

51 INT. COTTAGE AT HORSE FARM, KITCHEN - DAY

MR. WALTERS
Good morning. Don't mean to interrupt your breakfast.

Will nods hello.

MR. WALTERS (CONT'D)
I know that you have particular ways.

Will shifts his weight, trying to hide his exasperation with
Mr. Walter's.

MR. WALTERS (CONT'D)
And I don't want to disrupt.

WILL
What do you have planned for us today?

MR. WALTERS
I was hoping you would help with the tree work.

WILL
I'd rather not operate heavy machinery. Is there any work with the horses that I could do? Down in the stables?

MR. WALTERS
Yes, but I'd rather you not work down there yet. Working with horses requires training. And that can happen, but for now, I need help elsewhere.

Will nods, complying.

Do you not know how? Or is it something else?

There's silence for a moment.

MR. WALTERS (CONT'D)
Listen, the work that really needs doing is trimming, baling, and driving. That's how I make my money.

WILL
Okay. Tractors, trucks, saws, armored vehicles -- whatever. I can operate them all.

Mr. Walters softens.

MR. WALTERS
I can start you on the smaller trimmer, not a problem.
